Q I'm looking for stylish yet comfortable shoes to wear to work. My workplace is rather conservative. Where can I get some nice footwear? — Maxie

My preference is On Pedder, Giuseppe Zanotti or Manolo Blahnik. But it all boils down to your budget. Places like Aldo, Pedder Red, Tang & Co. and the Takashimaya shoe department have a good selection as well. My view is that stylish shoes — which usually come with vertiginous heels — are never comfortable enough to wear for a whole day at work. This season, the heels at Louis Vuitton are a staggering 16cm! The best thing to do is to keep a comfortable pair at work. That way you can slip on your nice shoes when you're out without having to suffer in the office. Also, pick designs that come with a stacked platform so your feet still receive adequate support despite a high stiletto heel. •
