

KAREN NG

She is one of Singapore's most sartorially adventurous fashionistas.

And true to form, stylist Karen Ng turns up for this interview and photo shoot in a daring nautical playsuit that shows off her long slender gams, paired with a long cardigan, both by D&G.

A Chanel sunhat and handbag, Hermes arm cuffs and Ann Demeulemeester shoes complete the look.

Ng, 37, calls herself a "power stylist" because she has the ability to help her clients "transform totally and successfully through clothing".

Often seen at the hottest parties and fashion shows around town, she has dressed many local socialites as well as celebrities like Fiona Xie.

Now, the bachelorette is lending her style to French champagne brand G.H. Mumm as its ambassador in Singapore.

She will be making appearances at Mumm throughout the year.

And since this bubbly is the official champagne of Formula One, expect to see Ng all glammed up or two when F1 mania hits Singapore again.

She has one tip for those who wish to stand out from the crowd at the night race with effort.

"Just add one standout piece such as a pile of bangles or a hat to your outfit. It makes a big difference to your look instantly."
